RECEIVERS' CERTIFICATES

P. and O. Borrowing Money for Expenses and Stock.

What is Needed to Put the Road on Its Feet-The Cars and

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will have just $456.99 left after paying off the indebtedness provided for under the arrangements included in the issue of receivers' certificates for $5,000,000, for which authority was granted by Judges Goff and Morris in the United States court at Baltimore yesterday.

Of the issue of $5,000,000, for which au thority was asked by Receivers Cowen and Murray, it will require, according to the statement of the same officials, $4,909,-543.01 to meet pressing indebtedness, and leaves only the small sum of $456.99 to be applied to the purchase of the additional rolling stock, for most of which contracts have already been entered into. In order to provide for the latter and for locomotives that are also badly needed, the re-ceivers asked, and were granted conditionally, the authority to issue certificates to the amount of $3,400,000, the entire issue of $8,400,000 to be payable in one, two and three years, and to bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

Great as is this sum, there is no doubt that the certificates can be successfully negotiated, as the $5,000,000 issue will, it is understood, be looked after by J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, and that of $3,400,000 by the Mercantile Trust and Deposit Company of Baltimore, who have also posit Company of Baltimore, who have already received subscriptions for the one-half allotted to them, and the other half has been taken by New York bankers who are interested in other securities of the Baltimore and Ohio.

The Reasons.

In giving the reasons for asking authority to issue the $5,000,000 of certificates, counsel for the receivers made the following statement: "On May 1 the company owed $2,847,680.31, on account of current operating expenses, including traffic accounts. The creditors for this amount are numerous. and a great many of them are individuals, firms and corporations, from whom the railroad has obtained its traffic as well as its supplies. They have been clamorous for their money, and the non-payment of this operating indebtedness is said to be causing great hardship, injuring the credit of the company and seriously impeding the revival of traffic on the road. So great has been the pressure from this class of creditors, and the receivers have found it so important to the successful operation of the prop-erty to give them the utmost relief, that in the disbursement of money coming into their hands the receivers have anticipated their net earnings, and have applied to the payment of this indebtedness $808,072.36 up to May 1 in excess of the receipts applicable to such purpose. "In making this estimate the receivers treated as cash accounts $1,403,108.89 shown by the company's books to be due from agents and collectors. The available cash on hand was $168,811.37. Even if the entire net earnings be applied to paying the operating indebtedness, this indebtedness cannot be discharged within any brief period of time without great prejudice to heriod of time without great prejudice to the management of the company." Notwithstanding this large addition to the debt of the Baltimore and Ohio, it is under-stood that the receivers are confident that after the road shall have received its ad-ditional equipment, it will be able to meet all necessary payments and to provide for the receivers' certificates as they mature.

What is Needed.

An account of what is needed, according to the B. and O.'s own officials, to bring the main line and principal branches up to the standard adopted by the great lines of the country is interesting, and is as follows: For new steel rails, $475,000; renewals of bridges, $440,000; tunnels and masonry, $75,000; 4,561 box cars, $376,282.50; 179 passenger cars, $333,965.67; 191 locomotives, $340,620, to which should be added the expenditure of $400,851, required under the recent acts of Congress in applying air brakes and automatic couplers to cars thoroughly repaired, making a total, $2,-450,749.17. All of these repairs must, it is stated, be made during the coming summer months.

Besides these necessary repairs, and the new equipment provided for, the receivers are anxious to straighten the seven curves, the cost of which, it is estimated will be $75,000; change the line and grade at Myer's Hole, at an expense of $40,000; change the line at foot of Doe Gully grade, $20,000; increased dock facilities at Locust Point, $75,000, and increased yard facilities at the same place, $90,000.

It has now leaked out that a short time before the B. and O. went into the hands of the receivers there were in the company's treasury securities valud by a bond expert at $18,000,000, but the entire sum was pledged by the company as security for negotiable paper, including its indorse ments, amounting to $9,500,000.

Of the $3,400,000 issue of receivers' certificates $3,300,000 will be required to pay for the new stock of 5,000 freight cars and 75 locomotives, leaving $100,000 for contingent expenses. The rolling stock at present consists of 858 locomotives, 683 passenger cars and about 27,000 freight cars of all kinds.

WHAT THE COLORED YOUTHS NEED. Ex-Senator Bruce Commends The Star's Industrial Campaign.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: The course of your journal relative to the establishment of industrial schools in the District of Columbia is wise and eminently appropriate at this time. The tendency of the times is to make all labor skilled, not only in the interest of the individual worker, but of the community who will appropriate and consume his products. Improvement in the quality and the volume of the utilities that spring from labor demand improvement by special training in the skill of the producer. The skill that was formerly obtained and is still derived from systems of apprenticeship is now largely secured, in advanced communities, from industrial schools. The youth of all races demand this, but especially is this a need of the colored youths, who, from reasons well understood, are deprived of the advantages obtained by apprenticeship in the different mechancal and industrial pursuits. Elementary education is necessary for the ordinary requirements of business, and the advantages of the High Schools are indispensable, not simply for the knowledge bestowed, but for the mental development that shall equip the man for the practical uses of his knowledge. Neither the elementary nor higher instruction supplied by existing institutions gives the technical knowledge and the practical skill that are necessary in practical life. We that are necessary in practical life. We cannot dispense with the former class of schools, but they are incomplete and will partially fall of their purposes unless sup-plemented by the special instruction that comes from direct industrial education. Some of the southern states are awakening to the value of such instruction. The special needs of the colored youth have provided for at Hampton, Va.; Nashville, Tenn.; Tuskegee, Ala., and other localities. There is, in my judgment, no community north or south where the needs of the acter are more pressing and imperative than here in the District of Columbia. You ought to receive, and I believe will receive, the hearty support of the citizens of Washington in your efforts in this move-ment, which proposes to give to the youth hetter qualifications for earning a livelihood, and larger opportunities for exercis-ing them. Such institutions in our midst will not merely minister to the conven-ience and comfort of the people, but will reduce the number of idlers among us, and protect society from the many disturbing michiefs that always spring from the idle classes. B. K. BRUCE.

NOT QUITE READY.

Electric Line Open to Arlington in a Few Days.

The officials of the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company expected to have their line opened today for travel as far as Arlington, but the trial trip of Wednesday, and more particularly the official trip made yesterday, disclosed that there were a few adjustments of wires and other small changes yet to be made, which caused the formal opening to be pestponed for a day or two. It is hoped, however, to have everything in shape by tomorrow and to run the trains regularly The Barbers' Union of Cincinnati, which thereafter.

The time made on yesterday's trip was much better than on the previous day, and on several occasions the speed attained was equal to forty-five miles an hour. There was no trouble of any kind, but, of course, the machinery did not work as smoothly as it will after it has been in use shoothly as it will after it has been in use a few days. The party making the second trip consisted of the following officials: Washington, Alexandria and Mount Ver-non railway—President G. E. Abbott, Vice President Park Agnew, Directors D. C. Leech, New York; J. S. Swartz, Philadelphia; Superintendent B. P. Flint, Chief Engineer S. G. Brosius, Consulting En-gineer W. B. Upton and Superintendent of Motive Power J. Colvin. Metropolitan Rail-read Company—Chief Engineer A. N. Connett, Assistant Engineer A. M. Brosius. Capital Traction Company—General Super-intendent D. S. Carll, Chief Engineer H. A. Beiden. Pennsylvania Railroad Company-Superintendent of Trains J. J. Cooper, Superintendent of Signal Department M.

The inspection also comprised the various properties of the company at Four Mile Run and in Washington, and everything was found to be in first-class condition.

He Was Fined. William I. Dwyer, an M street merchant. was before the Police Court today because he allowed some goods to remain on the sidewalk for a longer period than one hour. He admitted his guilt and unlike most merchants charged with this offense he complimented the police for enforcing the regulation. The pavement is narrow, but he found it necessary to leave the goods there, and he took the chances of being prosecuted. Judge Kimball heard the proof and fined Mr. Dwyer $5.

Thrown Out. Mrs. Carrie Ridgeway, who lives at 223 9th street northeast, went in search of her husband last evening because his absence from home had alarmed her. She called at the house of Frank Dellaze, No. 222 11th street, to make inquiries, because she thought he was there, and today in the Police Court she claimed that Dellaze threw her down the steps. The defendant was unable to explain to the satisfaction of the court that he was not guilty of the offense charged, and a fine of $15 or thirty days was imposed.

AMONG THE WORKINGMEN

Efforts to Organize Jonmeymen Painters in a New Union.

The Trade Union in Politics-Suggestions From a Labor Leader-The Federation and the Beer Boycott. Steps are being taken by the Central Labor Union of the District of Columbia to organize the journeymen painters and decorators of the city and vicinity into a union so that they may be represented at the approaching national convention of the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators in Chicago. It is stated by those in a position to know that this is likely to be the most interesting convention the brotherhood has ever held. The city council of Chicago has granted to the body the free use of the council chamber, which is only the second time that such a privilege has been granted to lator people—the first being when the American Federation of Labor met there. At the regular weekly meeting of the Federation of Labor a motion was adopted that the committee on the brewers boycott be instructed to unite with the com mittee of District Assembly 66 in trying to effect a settlement with the breweries represented by Messrs. Heurich and Carry, respectively, on the same terms as were made with the Washington Brewing Company. A member of the agitation committee stated that the passage of the high li-cerse bill would be urged before Congress. The delegates from the Shoe Clerks' Assembly, No. 1342, K. of L., asked for and received the unanimous indorsement of the federation in their efforts to induce their employers to close their stores early, commencing July 6. A letter received in this city from M. J. Carroll, one of the leaders of the American Federation of Labor, says: "Never in the history of this country was such determined effort made by politicians and all grades of reformers as is being made now to induce the trade union organizations to espouse a cause other than that for which trade unions were formed. Advocates of free silver and free trade, protection and the gold standard, for purity of the ballot, civil service reform, direct legislation, socialism, single tax, and all manner of nostrums besiege the union and labor with the members in an effort to convert them to their way of thinking. More than this, the writers who advocate hese measures insist that the trade unionist is disloyal to his union when he fails to see the great benefits to accrue from the triumph of the particular measure advocated.

"All the measures referred to here distinctly and essentially political in their nature, and can only be effected through the medium of the ballot box. The trade union is economic in its character and ten-dencies, established for the express purpose of improving the industrial and social condition of the mechanic and laborer, and is strictly non-partisan and non-sectarian in its makeup.

"The purposes and objects of the union are so simple and so easily understood that so long as they are adhered to there is little likelihood of serious differences between the members. Aside from the well-defined objects of a trade union, the members' interest in reforms of a political nature is no greater or no less than of other citizens, and in the consideration and disposal of it he should be allowed the same freedom of action as is accorded to othe citizens. "When the socialist, the free silverite or the protectionist try to bring these questions into the union and try to make these questions a part of the platform of tradunionism, he is but sowing the seed of without strengthening Its cause. I contend that a trades unionist can go outside his union and join a socialist club, vote for free silver or advocate a protective tariff to his heart's content tics the trade unionist is free to act as he

Daley watched the place Sunday night, hoping he would get an opportunity to enter the place when sales-were being made. Mr. Cullinane stood at the front door, so it is alleged, and permitted several men to enter the hall, but when the sergeant went across the street the door was closed to him, and he had to be content with remaining on the outside. An officer was sent to the rear of the place, in tious. order that any one leaving there might be seen and summoned as a witness later on.

The New Method of Paying Pensions. To the Editor of The Evening Star:

So much has been written pro and con in regard to the late law governing pensions that but very little remains to be said upon the subject. That the law will succeed in its object I am in grave doubt, for if I or any other pensioner wishes to dispose of his check, let it be for liquor or any other commodity, the same will be done, let the check be given in hand or be sent by mail. Having had experience in both ways, I must say I find little if any good accomplished by the mail route. If check is given in hand, the first thing to be done is get it cashed. Bankers in Washington refuse to cash same unless you have an account with them. If you are not in need of clothing, shoes, etc., the dealers in said articles will not cash it. If you are single, you do not deal with the butcher, the grocer or the baker, and, as a natural consequence, they will not do so. The treasury is a long way off, or perhaps closed, and the only place to get the cash is in some saloon, for the boarding mistress never has cash enough on hand to accommodate you. If you receive check by mail you are one day later in having it in your possession, and the same difficulty confronts you. Now, the saloon keeper is cried down accommodating the pensioner, and for why? Because the old soldier is induced to take a drink to get his cash. That there are, perhaps, some salcon keepers who charge 25 cents in their goods to accommodate the old soldier I have no doubt, but I can name not a few who have, and will yet, cash checks for those they are acquainted with, and never charge one cent, either in cash or goods, unless the soldier chooses to spend of his own free will. And, again, many are growling because they must pay a notary public 25 cents for his trouble in preparing vouchers; they would have same done gratis. Now, does the notary get his commission gratis? Is the seal of his office presented to him, or does he pick it out of the junk pile? And, again, do his ink, pens, etc., come to him free? And, lastly, is his time worth nothing? As Senator Gallinger said in the Senate a few days ago, Washington beats any place on God's green earth for kickers and Federation of Labor will meet at Minneapolis June 14.

The cigar makers and packers' unions of Detroit have issued a circular, asking the labor organizations of every city belonging without their assistance. A man's money is his own when once earned and paid to him, be it for work or for pension, and the government does not place any restriction on him as to how he disposes of it, let ft the request of the unions, declined to re-move. be for clothing, for amusement or even for a little beer or whisky. So the good Samaritans need not trouble their minds in re gard to his pension, for he will dispose of it according to his own free will, and the saloon keeper will not pull him in to make him spend unless the old comrade takes H. J. McGIVERN.

One of the Pensioners. Broke Up the Picnic.

Two days before last Christmas a party of men who had bought a keg of beer at the brewery went over on the flats south of the mall and had a picnic. Three policemen who heard of the social gathering went over there, and the men who were enjoying the teer deserted the keg and fled. John Gauley was there, but was not arrested at the time, although the police said he used bad language. But he was arrested last night, and Judge Kimball heard the case this morning.
